

Human Trafficking and Modern Day Slavery

Introduction

Discover what modern day slavery and human trafficking looks like, with this comprehensive collection of courses. You will also learn about child trafficking and slavery, how to spot the signs of modern slavery and what you should do.

Audience

The Modern Slavery Act states that any UK organisation with a turnover in excess of £36 million must comply with the legislation, therefore this course is a must for understanding human trafficking and modern slavery. It will also be suitable for those whose work might bring them into contact with people who have been trafficked. Some of those who will find this course useful, for example, are as follows:

- Social workers
- British Universities
- Health care workers
- Catering in hospitals, schools and colleges
- Those who work with children, such as teachers or care workers
- Those in affected industries, such as agriculture or construction

Objectives

In this course you will learn:

- What modern slavery is
- Some of the key pieces of legislation dealing with modern slavery
- The main ways in which victims are exploited
- The differences between human trafficking and migrant smuggling
- Why it is so hard for a victim to escape
- Who the traffickers are
- The definition of child trafficking
- The main ways in which children are exploited by traffickers
- The main indicators that a child is or might be a victim of trafficking,
- How to respond if you come into contact with a child who is potentially a victim of trafficking
- Spotting the signs that someone might be a victim of modern slavery
- The broad indicators that a child might have been trafficked
- How to get these potential victims help and into the National Referral Mechanism
- How the National Referral Mechanism works

Modules

This course contains the following modules:

Module name

- An introduction to the problem
- Spotting the signs
- Child trafficking and slavery

Content

This course will provide you with understanding of what modern day slavery is and the scope of the problem in the UK. It will increase your ability to spot the signs that someone may be a potential victim, and what you should do next. You will learn about child trafficking and slavery, and how prevalent it is.

Upon successful completion of this course you will be automatically awarded a certificate containing the course name, completion date, CPD hours and learning objectives. You will receive a certificate on the day of course completion.

